New COMPO EXPERT website with new service tools

Münster, April 2020

Since the beginning of April 2020, COMPO EXPERT presents itself with a new company website. The new presence is specially and individually tailored to the requirements of professional users. Thus the website is offering safe solutions for the areas of fruits, vegetables, field crops, turf and public green as well as nursery and ornamentals.

With a range of new functions and high user-friendliness, the COMPO EXPERT website is setting new standards:

Everywhere and anytime, stay informed about fertilization:

Thanks to the responsive design, information from COMPO EXPERT can be used on all devices – conveniently via smartphone and tablet.

Optimally supplied with the right concept:

The new crop stage program helps to fertilize according to the crop and growth stage.

Finding the right product is very easy:

With the COMPO EXPERT Product Finder you can find the right product for your crop with just a few clicks.

Fertilization know-how in detail pays off:

Detailed information and downloads about COMPO EXPERT products leave no questions unanswered.

With this new service tool, the user has the opportunity to inform himself interactively about the company as well as about products and application possibilities with detailed fertilization and recommendation plans. The website compo-expert.com also offers detailed information about crops and growth stages, is clearly structured and has got a fresh and modern design.
